FIRST PRIZE — $5.00

REPORTER
RUSTY RUBINA MOSKOVIG
Nisantas Haci Emun So.
Aydin Apt. No. 4/2
Istanbul, Turkey

Dear Archie,

Maybe I am your only reporter from Turkey. I thought I should write you some of the Nasreddin Hodja stories which are very popular here. I hope my American friends like them and find them interesting. I am also sending you the love of all the Turkish teenagers.

Here are two of the Nasreddin Hodja stories:

1. One day Nasreddin Hodja's neighbor wanted to borrow his donkey, but Nasreddin Hodja told him that the donkey was not at home. At that moment, the donkey began to make sounds with his lovely voice, which of course made the neighbor understand what was going on.

"Hodja," said he, "you say the donkey's not at home but I can hear his voice."

"What kind of man are you?" answered Hodja. "You don't believe me, who is so old and who has such a long white beard, but you believe the donkey!!"

2. Nasreddin Hodja used to buy nine eggs for about one cent and he used to sell ten of them for the same price. When someone asked him what he did it for he said, "Don't you see how the customers come? Can I have more pleasure than that? Only let friends see me selling!!"

I hope you liked these little stories.

SECOND PRIZE — $3.00

REPORTER
NORA KNAPP

Dear Archie,

A few years ago our family went to Formosa. I would like to tell you some of the things I saw and remember. Formosa is a beautiful island just off the coast of China. It was here that I spent a year that I'll never forget. One of my most vivid memories is the funeral processions they have in Formosa. These processions were held almost every day and they were quite unusual. People, probably relatives and friends of the deceased, walked down the streets carrying cups into which they cried.

The Formosan's national holiday is held on October 10th, the Double Tenth Day. Flags and parades are seen everywhere.

Bicycles with seats on the back are a common sight in Formosa. These pedicabs, as they are called, transport people from one place to another. The streets are filled with thousands of Formosans, pedicabs, and some cars. In Formosa, driving on either side of the street and going in any direction you please is tolerated.

It was quite an exciting adventure to go to the island across the Pacific, the "Beautiful Island," Formosa.

THIRD PRIZE — $2.00

REPORTER
RONALD GOODWIN
15 Virginia Lane
Cohasset, Mass.

Dear Archie,

A few years ago on Christmas my parents gave me an electric train set. At first I thought that trains were childish, but after I had looked into the hobby I found that it was popular with people of all ages. Since I first got my train set I have improved it greatly. In my cellar I have set up a small village with my train set. It has buildings, trees, roads, and even little people. A few months ago I installed electric lights for the houses and streets. Now I am planning on installing running water. This is one of the best hobbies I know of.

FOURTH PRIZE — $1.00

REPORTER
CAROL NERI
140 Fleming Avenue
Newark, N.J.

Dear Archie,

I have a cat named Ringo. When we received him he was a small kitten, unable to be taken from his mother. His mother died a short while after he was born. We fed Ringo with a small doll's bottle filled with evaporated milk. At first he wouldn't take the milk, so we had to open his mouth gently and squeeze the milk into it.

Now that he's seven months old he's contrary and curious. He eats dog food rather than cat food. He goes into drawers when they're open, takes my socks and gloves out. He usually takes them into the closet where he will sleep on them.
